Hohensalzburg Fortress

With more than a million visitors annually, Hohensalzburg Fortress is not only the symbol and landmark of Salzburg, but also its most popular tourist destination. Started in the 11th century, it was extended over the years to become one of the largest fortress complexes in Europe. Art history has much to offer here, particularly in the state-rooms in the "Hoher Stock", which – with the "Goldene Stube" – are amongst the finest secular Gothic rooms in Europe. From the Fortress, the visitor has a 360° panoramic view over the town and far beyond.

New panorama tour on Salzburg's landmark

The latest highlight offered on Hohensalzburg Fortress is the detailed panorama tour, from the salt store via the "Reckturm"[warrior's tower] through the historic parapet walk and up to the famous "Salzburger Stier" [bull], a huge mechanical organ. This new tour is devoted to spectacular views, taking visitors up to the highest point of the Fortress, where a breathtaking view over town and mountains awaits them. In addition, the tour gives fascinating insights into the history of the Fortress – ranging from centuries-old legends to the dark side of the edifice. Walk-in artistic installations, imaginative peep-shows and an attractive booklet make the tour an experience for all the senses – appealing to young and old alike. The highlights include a multi-media magic theatre, where visitors can enter the world of Prince-Archbishop Leonhard von Keutschach. The exhibition in the armoury will be new to many visitors; for centuries, ordnance, armour and small-arms were stored here for emergencies. Over time, these armaments were either sold or disappeared into the murky underground of history. A new exhibition tells the story of the weapons, armour and small-arms in the Fortress. Using interactive models, visitors can try out the various possibilities for attack and defence in a mediaeval fortress.

Salzburg DomQuartier – more than just a museum

Since 2014, after an interval of 200 years, the Salzburg DomQuartier has shown the restored architectural unity formed by the Cathedral and the Residenz, including the Benedictine Abbey of St Peter's. Comprising five museums, it makes impressively clear the enormous power exerted by the Salzburg prince-archbishops over a period of 1,300 years. The baroque building complex that forms the heart of the Old Town consists of the Residenz, Cathedral, Long Gallery and Wallis wing, and is considered a Gesamtkunstwerk [total art-work] combining architecture, art and music, unique in Europe. The DomQuartier houses some 2,000 costly exhibits from the rich art collection of the Province, the Archdiocese of Salzburg and St Peter's Archabbey. It includes the state-rooms of the Residenz, the Residenzgalerie, the Cathedral Museum with the Cathedral treasure, the reconstructed archiepiscopal Cabinet of Curiosities, the Long Gallery and St Peter's Museum, as well as special exhibitions of the museums.

The DomQuartier also includes historic venues where secular and sacred music were performed. The archiepiscopal court musicians, who included Wolfgang Amadé Mozart, composed music for these places and themselves performed there.

Hellbrunn Palace and Trick Fountains

Magic grottos, treacherous fountains and a real unicorn – the visitor to Hellbrunn Palace and its trick fountains should be prepared for surprises. Over 400 years ago, Prince-Archbishop Markus Sittikus had this pleasure palace and park built to entertain his guests. This playful spirit is still present in Hellbrunn. With its concealed jets, water-operated figures and countless surprises, these unique trick fountains are an absolute magnet for some 300,000 international visitors annually. The interactive exhibition GrandDelight: The unexpected world of Markus Sittikus gives entertaining details about the history of Salzburg.

Salzburg Open-Air Museum

With an area of 50 hectares (about 125 acres) and a 7km-long network of walks and hiking trails, the Open-Air Museum is Salzburg's largest museum, and one of the largest of its kind in Europe. More than 100 historical original buildings dating from over six centuries can be visited in this beautiful area – including farmhouses, mills, a private brewery, a grocer's shop, a smithy and a cobbler's workshop. All the buildings are set within a mosaic of flowering meadows, small ponds and shady woodland. Thus the site has a natural diversity equal to any in Europe, and has been declared a European nature reserve. The historical 2km-long narrow-gauge railway is a special magnet for visitors. Special exhibitions and a variety of events are organised throughout the season.

Open end of March – beginning of November | Guided tours in English and German | programme of events | www.freilichtmuseum.com

Salzburg Salzwelten [worlds of salt]

The adventure begins with a ride on the mine train deep into the Dürrenberg, then down two wooden slides and along mysterious right into the heart of the mountain. A journey through four epochs takes you from modern mining methods and salt production, back through the splendid baroque era into the dark Middle Ages and finally to the Celtic miners. You cross a mystic salt lake on a raft, into the glittering world of baroque Salzburg. Regular tours for children are offered, with Sally, the cute mine duck.

On the site, use the destination guide (with virtual adventure games and AR function) to explore the Kelten.Erlebnis.Berg together with the SALINA Celtic village, the new salt manufactory and a themed playground.

Hohenwerfen Fortress

Towering above the Salzach valley is Hohenwerfen Fortress, one of the best-preserved late-mediaeval edifices: a mighty fortified castle with typical turrets, embrasures and machicolations. There is a drop tower with wall 4m thick, a dungeon, a torture chamber, parapet walks and a 14m-high bell-tower. A fortress guide in historical costume offers fascinating insights into the "chivalric" life in the fortress. There's a rally quiz for children and an audio-guide in six languages. The highlights include daily demonstrations with birds of prey in the historical falconry. Besides special exhibitions, a programme of events offers plenty of variety for the whole family, and an exciting rally quiz through the grounds. New highlights are the renovated chapel and the current special exhibition Mythos Jackl – witches and wizards in Salzburg.

"Jackl the sorcerer" was Jakob Tischler or Jakob Koller, a Werfen craftsman with a band of followers. On four floors of the historic armoury, visitors are plunged into the world of witches and wizards – ranging from the events surrounding the Salzburg witch trials right up to present-day witch cults throughout the world. The exhibition is spellbinding, with authentic and sometimes macabre exhibits, multimedia Installations and legendary figures.

Eisriesenwelt – ice cave Werfen

The Eisriesenwelt [ice-giant world], at an altitude of over 1,600m, high above the Salzach Valley, is the largest ice-cave in the world. The guided tour takes visitors just over a kilometre, with a difference in height of 134m. The temperature is always around 0°C. 1,400 steps lead through the huge caverns inside the Tennengebirge emerging into a wonderland of magical natural sculptures. The only light comes from the visitors' carbide lamps and from magnesium strips occasionally lit by the guide to show the extraordinary ice formations. The cave was first explored and described by Anton Posselt in 1879. Now visitors number around 170,000 annually.

Grossglockner High Alpine Road

The Grossglockner High Alpine Road at the foot of Austria's highest mountain is the finest panoramic road in Europe. Over 36 bends, it leads up to an altitude of 2,571m, to the Pasterze, the longest glacier in the Eastern Alps. On the way into the heart of the High Tauern National Park – one of the largest protected natural Alpine areas – you can see over thirty three-thousanders, thundering waterfalls, marmots and summer snow-fields. The Edelweiss Spitze is the highest peak in Austria accessible by car. Along the 48km-long road, interesting themed nature trails, exhibitions (free of charge), playgrounds, restaurants and viewpoints invite the visitor to stop for a while. The Grossglockner High Alpine Road is one of Austria's most popular destinations, and as a national monument, it is under a preservation order. The day ticket includes entrance to all exhibitions, nature trails and a guided tour of the panoramic route round the Kaiser-Franz-Josefs-Höhe with a National Park ranger (daily from mid-July until the end of September, at 10.30 am and 1.30 pm).

Open from the beginning of May until the end of October (depending on weather conditions) | www.grossglockner.at

Kaprun High Mountain Reservoirs

Among the highest Alpine peaks, the Wasserfallboden and Mooserboden reservoirs are surrounded by snow-covered glaciers. The high Alpine power plant, built during the 1940s and '50s, gave rise to the myth of Kaprun. With more than 100,000 visitors annually, the reservoirs are among the classic destinations of Salzburg's summer tourism. After a spectacular ascent with Europe's largest open inclined lift, visitors are given a rare view behind the scenes of electricity generation. A guided tour of the dam wall leads inside the 107m-high building. In the Electricity Adventure World exhibition explains the history of the power plant construction and details on sustainable water power. The impressive mountain scenery, well-maintained hiking trails, the world's highest fixed climbing route on a dam, an interactive trail for children and a wide range of cuisine promise discovery, recreation and sheer pleasure.
